

Rose Cottages, Westcott Street

The old Rose Cottages in Westcott Street were bought by the Westcott Fellowship Cottage Trust and demolished to make way for the construction of six new cottages in Summer 1963

It is believed that Dr Kingsley Jones acquired the fire insurance plate on the wall of the cottages on the right. The first of the new cottages have already appeared at the back of the site, behind the old stables This print was taken from an original belonging to Harold Thomas